

CONTENTS

| | |
|---|-----|
| Acknowledgments | ix |
| Introduction: The Power of Home | I |
| PART I | |
| 1 Hitler Sets Up House: A Bachelor's Domestic Turn after 1928 | 11 |
| 2 How the Chancellor Lives: A New Regime for an Old Palace | 24 |
| 3 Cultivated Interiors: The 1935 Renovation of the Prince Regent Square Apartment | 47 |
| 4 From Haus Wachenfeld to the Berghof: The Domestic Face of Empire | 68 |
| 5 Gerdy Troost: Hitler's Other Chosen Architect | 107 |
| PART II | |
| 6 Campaign Politics and the Invention of the Private Hitler | 149 |
| 7 An Alpine Seduction: Propaganda and the Man on the Mountain | 161 |
| 8 The Squire of Berchtesgaden: The Making of a Myth in the Foreign Press | 194 |
| 9 War and the English-Language Media's Reappraisal of the Domestic Hitler | 221 |
| 10 Secrets in the Cellar: Bombing, Looting, and the Reinvention of Hitler's Domesticity | 258 |
| 11 "Adolf Doesn't Live Here Anymore": The Troublesome Afterlife of Hitler's Homes | 284 |
| Notes | 318 |
| Works Cited | 343 |
| Index | 359 |
| Illustration Credits | 372 |

Plates Follow Page 244