

Contents

Introduction

- I The Spirit of the Age 1
- II The Essay as Genre 18

Early Victorian England

Thomas Carlyle,
“Signs of the Times” (1829) 31

John Stuart Mill,
“The Spirit of the Age” (1831) 50

T. B. Macaulay,
“Civil Disabilities of the Jews” (1831) 80

W. M. Thackeray,
“The Snobs of England, by One of Themselves” (1846–47) 91

Charles Dickens,
“Demoralisation and Total Abstinence” (1849) 107

Mid-Victorian England

George Eliot,
“Evangelical Teaching: Dr. Cumming” (1855) 119

Walter Bagehot,
“Dull Government,” “Average Government,” and
“Thinking Government” (1856) 145

John Stuart Mill,
“A Few Words on Non-Intervention” (1859) 157

John Ruskin,
“The Roots of Honour” (1860) 172

John Henry Newman,
“General Answer to Mr. Kingsley” (1864) 185

Matthew Arnold,
“Culture and Its Enemies” (1867) 205

Late Victorian England

John E. E. D. Acton,
“The History of Freedom in Antiquity” (1877) 227

Millicent Garrett Fawcett,
“The Future of Englishwomen: A Reply” (1878) 248

W. E. Gladstone,
“‘Robert Elsmere’: The Battle of Belief” (1888) 260

Beatrice Webb,
“Pages from a Work-Girl’s Diary” (1888) 280

Oscar Wilde,
“The Soul of Man under Socialism” (1891) 294

T. H. Huxley,
“Evolution and Ethics” (1893) 311