

Contents

List of Illustrations

ix

List of Maps

xi

Acknowledgments

xiii

A Note on Translation

xviii

Introduction

1

1 • Savants, Savages, and New Sensibilities

19

2 • Savages and Spaniards: Natives Transformed

52

3 • The Science of Creating Men

91

4 • A Good War or a Bad Peace?

138

5 • Trading, Gifting, and Treating

178

6 • Crossing Borders
221

Epilogue: Insurgents and Savages, from Inclusion to Exclusion
257

Notes
279

Bibliography
371

Index
441

Illustrations

1. Carlos III, 1784.	4
2. Yndios Bárbaros /Savage Indians.	13
3. Alejandro Malaspina.	22
4. Vista del Puerto Deseado.	23
5. José del Pozo painting a Patagonian girl.	24
6. El Cacique Juncan.	25
7. The son of Catiguala.	26
8. Nootkas dancing at Friendly Cove.	28
9. Maquinna, principal chief of the Nootkas.	30
10. Patagonian man.	42
11. Spaniards as savages.	48
12. Patagonians on the banks of the Río Negro.	53
13. Araucanians.	57
14. A surprise attack, or malón .	63
15. Araucanians of the pampa.	66
16. Cangapol and his wife, Huennee.	67
17. “Yes, I believe.”	94
18. Martyrs.	98
19. Mission San José, Chiquitos.	115
20. Mission of San Javier of the Mocobíes.	121
21. Jesuits crossing the Río Laja.	127
22. Fort at Pergamino.	168
23. Fort at Arauco.	170
24. Carmen de Patagones.	171
25. Medal with the bust of Carlos III.	187
26. A citation to “Little Bird.”	188
27. Conference at Negrete, 1793.	190

28. Pampas in Buenos Aires.	198
29. Spanish camp on the Bermejo River, 1774.	212
30. The game of cbueca .	225
31. A Chilean huaso .	251
32. Charrúas, 1833.	272
33. Return from the raid/ La vuelta del malón .	276

Maps

1. Spanish America, 1783.	7
2. Disputed Spanish-American borderlands, 1783–95.	10
3. Malaspina in America, 1789–91.	21
4. The Araucanía, the pampa, and Patagonia, 1781.	60
5. The Chaco, Paraguay, and Upper Peru, 1794.	69
6. Northern New Spain, 1776.	73
7. Central America and the Caribbean coast of South America, 1777.	88
8. Jesuit missions in Spanish America, 1767.	111
9. The Guajira Peninsula, 1775.	175