A New Edition

The American West
A New Interpretive History, Second Edition
ROBERT V. HINE, JOHN MACK FARAGHER, AND
JON T. COLEMAN
An ideal text for students, scholars, and general readers, the revised second edition of this engaging, unorthodox history of America's West incorporates recent scholarship to explore the West as both frontier and region, from the first Columbian contacts between Native Americans and Europeans through the end of the twentieth century.

Empire in Retreat
The Past, Present, and Future of the United States
VICTOR BULMER-THOMAS
In this grand historical survey, Victor Bulmer-Thomas offers three definitions of empire—territorial, informal, and institutional—that explain the imperial role of the United States from its origins shortly after independence. He argues that the current imperial retreat does not necessarily mean decline and could ultimately strengthen the nation-state.

Enraged
Why Violent Times Need Ancient Greek Myths
EMILY KATZ ANHALT
A fascinating new study of three classic works of ancient Greek literature, exposing their enduring relevance. These stories, by Homer, Sophocles, and Euripides, all emphasize the consequences of glorifying violent rage and cultivate instead the capacity for empathy, self-restraint, and rational debate.

William the Conqueror
DAVID BATES
In this magisterial addition to the Yale English Monarchs series, David Bates draws on research into previously little examined eleventh- and twelfth-century charters to write an innovative account of the life of a major figure in British and European history. Using a multidisciplinary approach he moves away from old controversies over the so-called Norman Conquest of England. This volume will stand as the scholarly biography for our generation.

Paul
The Pagans’ Apostle
PAULA FREDRIKSEN
History sees Paul as a founder of Christianity. But Paul saw himself as Christ’s messenger, living and working in history’s final hour. By situating Paul in his complex social world of Jews and pagans, angels and demons, gods and humans, Paula Fredriksen offers a compelling new portrait of the apostle.

Conscience and Conversion
Religious Liberty in Post-Revolutionary France
THOMAS KSELMAN
Religious liberty is usually examined within a larger discussion of church-state relations, but Thomas Kselman looks at several individuals in Restoration France whose high-profile conversions fascinated their contemporaries. Exploring their reasons and the repercussions they faced, Kselman demonstrates how this expanded sense of liberty informs our secular age.

Big and Small
A Cultural History of Extraordinary Bodies
LYNNE VALLONE
This generously illustrated, analytical tour-de-force investigates bodily size difference as a distinctive cultural marker in Western thought. Exploring depictions of miniaturism, gigantism, obesity, and the lived experiences of actual big and small people, Lynne Vallone addresses the implications of using physical measures to judge normalcy, goodness, gender identity, and beauty.
