Radical Sacrifice

Terry Eagleton

Terry Eagleton pursues the concept of sacrifice through the history of human thought, from antiquity to modernity, in religion, politics, and literature. He sheds skewed perceptions of the idea, honing in on a radical structural reconception that relates the ancient world to our own in terms of civilization and violence.

That All Shall Be Saved Heaven, Hell, and Universal Salvation

David Bentley Hart

David Bentley Hart makes the case that nearly two millennia of dogmatic tradition have misled readers on the crucial matter of universal salvation. On the basis of the earliest Christian writings, theological tradition, scripture, and logic, Hart argues that if God is the good creator of all, he is the savior of all, without fail.

Religious Conflict in Brazil

Protestants, Catholics, and the Rise of Religious Pluralism in the Early Twentieth Century

Erika Helgen

This innovative study explores the transition in Brazil from a hegemonically Catholic society to a religiously pluralistic society. With sensitivity and nuance, Erika Helgen shows that the rise of religious pluralism was fraught with conflict and violence, as Catholic bishops, priests, and friars organized intense campaigns against Protestantism.

Imagining the Dharma in an Uncertain World

Stephen Batchelor

From the classroom to the workplace to the hospital room, mindfulness meditation in the West has become a common practice. Many of its Western practitioners, however, do not identify as Buddhist. In this thought-provoking collection, Stephen Batchelor explores the implications of Buddhism’s secularization.
